17 Merrymakers Killed As Train Smashes Bus

ONTARIO, Calif., Oct. 3—(AP)—A racing passenger train ripped into a U. S. Air Force bus at a crossing last night, killing 17 of the 22 occupants.

The bus was homeward-bound from a day at the beach.

Eleven of the dead were military or civilian personnel from March Air Base; five were members of the Ontario Hostess' Club — a service organization — the other was the chaperone, Mrs. Ruby Mc Laughlin, 45, mother of one of the dead girls, Juanita Mc Laughlin, 18.

Chief deputy coroner Edward

P. Doyle said only five, including twin sisters sitting in different parts of the bus, escaped alive. It was hours before officers could draw a coherent picture from survivors. Earlier estimates of the injured ran as high as 24, and police at one time said 19 bodies had been accounted for.

Acetylene torches finally cut away the mangled wreckage from the battered locomotive, and the train headed east more than four hours late.

No one on the bus was unhurt, but no one was injured aboard the train, the Union Pacific's

Pony Express eastbound to Chicago. The railroad said the train was traveling 70 miles an hour. Engineer Al Hall declared "I didn't see a thing" before the crash.

Scene Like Two Jima

An ambulance driver, ex-marine Dick Klenhard, said the bloody wreck scene reminded him of two Jima's beachhead — "there were dead and injured everywhere."

Survivors included Omega and Marquita Pearce, 18-year-old twins from Ontario. Omega received a broken ankle, Marquita (Please turn to Page Two)

Social Security Scrap in Offing

Promise Broken Rep. Brown Says

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3—(AP)—The House rules committee today sent social security expansion legislation to the House under a rule barring any changes.

That means the House must accept the bill "as is" or turn it down. House debate probably will begin tomorrow. Rep. Doughton (D-NC), head of the ways and means committee which drafted the measure, predicted it will be approved overwhelmingly.

The rules committee vote to bar amendments was 5 to 4. One member said five Democrats supported the rule and four Republicans opposed. The Republicans called the "this or nothing" procedure a "gag" rule.

Republicans already had accused Democratic leaders of a double-cross for bringing the legislation up at this time.

"There was a definite understanding," Rep. Clarence Brown (R-Ohio) told a reporter, "that this legislation would not be brought up until next January."

The social security bill would increase old age and survivors' insurance benefits materially. For instance, it would boost from $41 to $79 a month the pension for a man over 65, with a wife over 65, who has been in the program for 10 years at an average wage of $100 a month. If the monthly pay averaged $250, the pension would go up from $66 to $102.

In addition, the bill would add 11,000,000 persons to the 35,000,000 now covered by the pension system and gradually boost the Texas final pension program.

Determined Egyptian Fails to Swim Channel

FOLKESTONE, Eng., Oct. 3—(AP)—Egyptian Fahmy Attallah failed today in his fifth attempt to swim the English channel, apparently ending the most publicized channel swim season in history.

Eleven swimmers had made 17 attempts since spring. Five made it.

Attallah was hauled out of the icy waters after 16 hours. He was still only six miles from Gap Gris Nez, France—his starting point. He blamed his failure on the cold.

Meanderings

By Wash Fayette

These are the days when lovers of bittersweet and goldenrod are at their best.

While many persons are careful not to destroy the bittersweet vines, others are careless about how they break and whack at the vines bearing the lovely orange berries. The berries can be obtained without cutting away unnecessarily large portions of the vines, it is pointed out.

A great many persons are not aware that goldenrod cut when the plumes are fluffy and at their best, may be dried and used for attractive winter bouquets.

It is true that the deep golden colors give way to less pronounced shades of yellow, when the goldenrod is dry, but nevertheless it is one of the best additions to a winter bouquet that is obtainable.

In as much as goldenrod is so abundant in many places, it is never missed, but year by year seems to increase wherever it can obtain a foothold in undisturbed ground.

Speaking of goldenrod, that reminds me there are more than 30 varieties, with dozens of them growing in Ohio, and several kinds in Fayette County.

Most of the goldenrod in Fayette County is the Canada goldenrod, the most abundant and largest of the species found in the state.

Hurricane Lashing Gulf Heads for Texas Coast

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., Oct. 3—(AP)—Four hundred miles of Texas crescent shaped coast was battered down today awaiting a hurricane moving slowly in from the Gulf of Mexico.

At 6:45 A. M. (CST) the storm with winds estimated up to 90 miles was about 135 miles south-east of Brownsville, on the southern tip of the Texas Coast.

It was moving between north-west and north north-west about 15 miles an hour. It was expected to strike the rich industrial coast somewhere between Corpus Christi and Galveston late today. Winds and squalls prevailed along the coast during the morning. At 8 A. M. (CST) it was raining hard at Houston, Texas' big-

Stork Wins Again In Race with Cops

CLEVELAND, Oct. 3—(AP)—If the stork ever hovers about his household again, Daniel O'Priva vows he will hurry his wife to the hospital two weeks ahead of time.

Six years ago, he and Mrs. O'Priva misjudged the timetable and police had to assist when their daughter, Carol Ann, arrived. Last night Mrs. O'Priva again felt labor pains. O'Priva was all for packing her off to the hospital immediately. But Mrs. O'Priva wanted to wait a little longer.

The result: police again official- at the birth. This time it was a six-pound six-ounce boy.

Gadget Invented To Call Firemen

CLEVELAND, Oct. 3—(AP)—Inventor H. J. Rand said today he has devised a gadget that will make a telephone call to the fire department when a blaze starts up in an empty home.

He calls it, the "robot watchman," a compact appliance that is attached to the telephone.

When the fire's heat reaches 160 degrees, a thermostat in the appliance sets off the device. Automatically, the fire department's number is dialed and when the fireman answers a voice recorder starts to operate.

The mechanical voice informs him of the fire. Then the phone hangs up.

Rand, who has invented such other appliances as an electric shaver and an automatic washing machine, says it also can be used to phone the police department. In this case, wires are rigged to various windows.

GOP in Discord On Main Issues For Campaign

National Chairman On Spot in Drafting Political Strategy

BY JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower put his finger on a GOP sore spot when he advised the party recently to develop a set of principles "so you can tell the difference between a Republican and a Democrat."

Eisenhower's advice was reported by Republican National Chairman Guy Gabrielson, who is on something of a spot himself in trying to line up a program for the GOP's 1950 attempt to regain control of Congress.

Gabrielson, who never will be known as "Garrulous Guy," has been playing his politics close to the vest since he won the chairmanship last summer by a narrow margin.

He has been listening and not doing much talking, particularly about the issues of the coming campaign. About all Gabrielson has ventured to say is that the Republicans will try to save the nation from the "destructive effects" of what he calls President Truman's "Promise-everything policies."

Gay Funeral Party Gets Guests Down Before It Is Over

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 3—(AP)—The 500 friends and relatives of Sofi Marion gave up today.

Her funeral, they agreed, was a great success but they couldn't take any more.

Sofi, owner of a roadside inn and tourist cabins, left careful instructions that "everyone have a good time at my funeral. I don't want anyone to be sad."

She always gave big parties and she wanted her last one to be the biggest of all. She wanted it to last a week.

But her guests only lasted four days. They had eaten of the eight lambs and three roast hogs and had drunk the 20 barrels of wine Sofi made herself.

Sofi, widowed 64-year-old Yugoslav immigrant, was buried Friday.

Shorter Work Week Is Aim of AF of L

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 3—(AP)—Leaders of the American Federation of Labor today charted a union drive for fewer working hours in industry.

Delegates at opening sessions of the annual AFL Convention received a report from officers recommending a shorter work day and work week as an immediate economic goal.

The report from the policy making executive council said fewer working hours are needed because the nation is becoming productive enough to spread employment to give more individual jobs and provide all with more leisure.

"If the economy is to remain sound over the long run," the council said, "our developing productivity and technology must be 'leisure providing' as well as 'labor saving' and must lead to shorter hours and higher living standards for all, rather than unemployment for a growing number."

Rep. Anthony Tautiello (D-NY) had a more prosaic story to tell. He was only followed by an automobile—no blondes in it.

Housing Shortage Here Easing Up But Still Far from Being Overcome

If you're looking for a house, mister, you'll have trouble but if you're not too fussy there's probably an apartment here.

That's about the way the housing situation in Washington C. H. can be summed up after a survey of advertisements, real estate dealers, landlords, tenants and rent control officials.

A study of "Apartments For Rent" in the want ad sections of the Record-Herald shows that housing here has apparently passed the critical stage.

The study reveals that Washington C. H. is almost back to its pre-war level in number of apartments for rent.

There's a "ringer" in this statement though. Most of the apartments being advertised for rent now are furnished and bring higher rents than the unfurnished variety.

Landlords report that they aren't getting many inquiries about furnished apartments. Some say they've had considerable difficulty since workers for the Associated Pipeline Company left town.

Finding a good unfurnished apartment is another story. They pop up once in awhile in the want ad section but many times they are rented by personal contact.

Postmen Make Study

Gene Smith, who handles rent control problems for Washington C. H. and other communities in this section of Ohio, said a good example of this came about a month ago.

He said Henry Engle, assistant postmaster asked each postman to report to him the number of (Please turn to Page Five)

The recognition of Communist China was announced yesterday in a note to the premier of the central people's government at Peiping from Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Another Soviet note, delivered to representatives of the three big Western Powers in Moscow, rapped the creation of the west German government at Bonn. It charged the U. S., Britain and France had broken big four agreements to try to regain political and (Please turn to Page Two)

Crooner Is Killed As Plane Crashes

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 3—(AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board today is investigating whether the plane which crashed in a busy midtown boulevard, killing crooner Buddy Clark, may have been overloaded.

Five others, including Sam Hayes, top west coast NBC newscaster, were injured in the crash Saturday night. The plane was returning from the Stanford-Michigan football game at Palo Alto when its gas supply ran out.

Hayes, 44, suffered minor injuries. Hayes' wife, Sally, 28, suffered leg injuries. Frank Berend, 56, National Broadcasting sales executive, sustained head injuries, and Jennings Pierce, 52, also a NBC executive, suffered a brain concussion. All were reported in "satisfactory" condition.

Clark, 38, was a top recording and radio artist. In recent years, he starred on his own NBC program "The Contented Hour" and previously on the "Hit Parade."

Suicide Ruled in Death

AKRON, Oct. 3—(AP)—Suicide was the verdict of Coroner C. I. Martin in the death of Mrs. Mary E. Vaughn, 64, of Hudson. Her body was found in the trunk of the family car in the garage. A hose had been run into the trunk from the exhaust pipe. The sheriff's office reported finding a note indicating ill health.

Convict Is Cheered by Crowd For Musical History of Town

BIG SPRING, Tex., Oct. 3—(AP)—A life term convict stood in the wings of a stage yesterday and cried. He was hearing—for the first time—his musical history of Big Spring.

Frank Grandstaff, on a six-day furlough from the Tennessee State Prison, then slipped quietly into a front row seat. But minutes later he was pushed to the stage -- the center this time--to receive the applause of hundreds.

The one-time piano salesman in West Texas, a man described as having unusual talents, was given a warm, heart-felt ovation. For a work composed in a prison cell.

Grandstaff's cantata, "Big Spring," was sung by a male chorus, as part of this West Texas town's 100th birthday celebration.

"I'm happy, I'm very happy," was all Grandstaff could say.

"Yes, it sounded just as I thought it would."

"Happiness is a town named Big Spring," he told a crowd estimated at 2,000 persons just before the program in the municipal auditorium began.

"Everyone here has gone out of time it was."

Steel and Coal Output Is Reduced to Trickle

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 3—(AP)—One fifth of John L. Lewis' coal miners went back into the pits today but nearly a million other steel and coal workers remained on strike for pension benefits.

There are hints the federal government may step into the dispute -- but officially no one is talking.

Some 80,000 anthracite (hard coal) diggers ended two weeks of idleness in eastern Pennsylvania.

Coal-using industry, however, must continue to bite into a 46-day supply of bituminous stockpiled above ground.

Price Support Set for Hogs

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3—(AP)—The government announced today it will support producer prices of hogs from October through next March at levels ranging between 11 and 22 percent below current market prices.

The monthly support rates for all hogs, on a national average at the farm, were set by the agriculture department as follows:

October $16.40 for 100 pounds; November $15; December $14.20; January $14.90; February $13.50, and March $16.20.

These rates are designed to assure producers at least 90 percent of parity. Parity is a farm product price goal designed to keep farmers on a basis of economic equality with non-farmers.

Officials said the October support level of $16.40 compares with current average prices of $18.25. In other words current prices are about 11 percent above the government guarantee.

Girl in State Job As Civil Engineer

COLUMBUS, Oct. 3—(AP)—The State Highway Department today hired its first woman civil engineer.

She is 22-year-old Dorothy Mainey of Columbus.

Miss Mainey, a 1949 graduate of Purdue University in civil engineering, was hired in the highway department's 3-year training program.

In a search for competent engineers the department set up a training program which will afford the young engineer a chance for practical experience.

Pope Urges Action On Refugee Problem

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy, Oct. 3—(AP)—Pope Pius XII has warned the western world it faces grave dangers unless the agonizing refugee problem is swiftly solved.

"Political, economic and even social dangers are involved in a policy of further delay and exaggerated caution," he told a refugee fact-finding committee of American congressmen here yesterday.

The Pope appealed for "prompt and responsible community action" to end the "blight of peace-time detention camps," and the plight of millions who now must answer to the hideous appellation of "expellees."

He urged the American congressmen and their collaborators of every nation to "deal vigorously with the last remaining obstacles to full human freedom for our beloved refugees."

Justice Douglas seriously hurt as horse falls

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 3—(AP)—A stubborn fire that broke out in the Miami Herald's storage warehouse Saturday night still smoldered today after causing damages estimated at $750,000.

Fire Chief Henry R. Chase called it "the worst fire I've ever fought and the worst Miami ever had," he estimated it would take two more days to conquer the spectacular blaze.

James L. Knight, business manager of the Herald, estimated the loss of $750,000 in newspaper and the new four-story, reinforced concrete warehouse which adjoins the publishing plant in downtown Miami.

The 50-year-old jurist responded well to blood transfusions and emergency treatment given on his arrival from the accident scene 77 miles away.

But for several days, his doctors said, the danger of pneumonia will be acute.

Eating Standard In America Not Lower, However

Farm Legislation, Meanwhile, Faces Political Battle

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3—(AP)—Government studies show that consumers are spending less for food this year than last but are eating about the same.

The Agriculture Department, reporting this today, said that the average person is spending about 26 percent of his income for food compared with 28 percent last year.

"But there is evidence," it added, "that he is receiving about the same quantity and kinds of food for the money spent."

This reported decline in food expenditures largely reflects, officials said, some easing of retail food prices since 1948.

By July of this year, the farmer's share of the consumer's food dollar had fallen to 48 cents from a wartime peak of 54 cents.

Prices Going Down

The retail cost of farm products included in a typical family market basket turned downward again in July, decreasing from $654 in June to $641, or 2 percent. Such a market basket contains quantities of farm products equal to the 1935-39 average annual purchase for a family of three average consumers. A year earlier the market basket cost $708.

Of this cost, $309 was said to have gone to farmers and $332 to processors, distributors, and transportation agencies.

The farmer's share in July varied by types of food. It was 36 cents of the dollar paid for all fruits and vegetables, 63 cents for meat and meat products, 57 for dairy products, 65 for poultry and eggs, 26 cents for bakery and other cereal products, and 27 cents for miscellaneous foods.

Although no estimate of retail prices was available for August, wholesale price reports indicate a further decline that month.

Farm Legislation

Meanwhile, the Senate buckled today to a scrap over farm legislation—a politically hot issue that has criss-crossed party lines.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, Oct. 3—(AP)—The problem of pensions for workers now has moved into the front row of labor union's thinking. You can be sure it will stay there.

John L. Lewis gave the problem a big push through the pension plan he got for coal miners from the mine owners over the past three years. It called for a pension of $100 a month.

This became a goal for other labor leaders who, if they wanted to retain leadership, could hardly seek less for their people than Lewis won for his.

Now Walter Reuther, head of the CIO Auto Workers, has obtained a $100-a-month pension for his members from the Ford Motor Company. The CIO steelworkers are trying to get the same from the steel firms.

So the Lewis and Reuther pension plans have set a goal and a challenge for other labor leaders. Therefore, it's logical to expect a continued drive for pensions in the years ahead.

Then, once the pension door is wide open, will come the drive for better pensions. This will explain why.

Under the Reuther plan Ford will not hand out a $300 monthly pension to his retired workers. He'll give them only the difference between $100 and whatever social security pension they get from the government.

(The average social security pension being paid a retired worker in this country today is around $25 a month. The maximum anyone can get is $44.80. A retired worker's wife, when she reaches 65, gets a pension of her own half as much as her husband's.)

(So the wife of a man who got the maximum of $44.80, would get $22.40, giving the couple a combined pension of $67.20. But Ford pays a pension to a retired worker only, not his wife.)

Since the maximum social security payment is $44.80, the least Ford has to pay a retiring worker is $55.20 to bring his total pension to $100.

But Congress may pass a law—probably not before next year—increasing social security pensions as much as 70 per cent.

Suppose that happens and a retiring Ford worker—who under the present law got the maximum social security pension of $44.80—got a social security pension of $76.

What would that mean to Ford? Ford would have to pay less to bring the worker's total pension up to $100. If a man gets $44.80 Ford has to pay him $55.20. If he gets $76, Ford pays him only $24.

Would the auto workers in the Ford plant be content to let Ford's contribution to the pension plan grow less because the government pension got bigger? Or would they want the same—or a larger—contribution from Ford to make the total pension larger?

The present agreement with Ford runs till 1955 and may not be reopened till then.

But between now and 1955 the government pension may be increased.

If that happens, union leaders with the job of trying to get as much for their members as they can, will undoubtedly attempt to push up the total size of their pension where and when they can.

The president's three-man special board which studied the steel dispute with the CIO gave union leaders ammunition by holding that the steel companies could afford a pension for their workers.

The board also gave union leaders ammunition for the future when they said this in their report:

"Even if the increase (in the social security pension) now being discussed in Congress were enacted, they still would not materially increase the purchasing power of workers' pensions over the original purchasing power provided in 1935."

The board said the present social security pension rates, fixed back in 1935, were not high enough even then to provide a minimum living standard and are far less than sufficient now, since living costs have risen so much.

'Cooling Off' Period as Way To Halt Increase in Divorce To Be Tried Out in Illinois

JUDGE JULIUS H. MINER

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER
Central Press Correspondent

CHICAGO, Ill.—If married couples about to split up had to cool their heels for a couple of months before going into court would the tidal wave of divorces sweeping the country be halted?

Many domestic relations authorities think so, and the state of Illinois is getting set to give a trial to the 60-day "cooling off" period as a deterrent to marriage collapses which experts forecast will reach a rate of one divorce for every marriage by 1958.

The first state in the country to give a tryout to the plan, Illinois will establish "marriage counselors" in every county between now and December, when the new law is scheduled to go into effect.

These advisers, working as officers of the county courts, will be in charge for the two months after proposed divorcees file what will be known as "confidential statements of intention."

Three hundred thousand dollars has been appropriated by the legislature to finance the first year's operation, but if it works the state should make a big saving in the long run.

Typical of all the states in the nation in this respect, Illinois is finding that the expense of caring for the dependent children of broken homes is a staggering burden on the taxpayers, amounting to more than five million dollars a year. In addition, more than 80 per cent of all juvenile crime is on the same cause. Divorce is rapidly on the up-grade throughout the United States. In 1943 the total was 359,000 divorces, and this increased in 1944 to 400,000, in 1945 to 490,000, and in 1946 to 620,000. The figures lag several years and are not available yet for 1947-48, but the trend is known to be continuing or even increasing.

A CHICAGO divorce court judge who has won a reputation for reconciling parties asking for a divorce, Judge Julius H. Miner, is the author of "the Illinois plan" which now will hold the national spotlight until it is determined whether it is the answer to the national problem, or just another false start.

Although it meant extra hours, Judge Miner invited couples contemplating filing suits for divorce to see him beforehand. That gave him the idea for the 60-day cooling off period. His slogan is that "conciliation is better than reconciliation."

After the formal complaint in divorce is filed, complete with its lurid accusations and setting forth the legal grounds for separating the couple, it is twice as hard to get them to forgive and forget, he maintains.

"Not only feelings are hurt by then, but pride also," he points out. "Often the juicy details of their matrimonial squabbles have become public gossip, and they no longer feel that they can back out or patch things up."

ILLINOIS lawmakers adopted the proposal in preference to several other suggestions which called for tightening the state's already fairly stringent divorce law. Only New Jersey, with a law requiring that an act of cruelty must be six months old before it can form the basis for a divorce action, has written anything similar on its statute books.

Despite the limited grounds for divorce in Illinois law, you could get a divorce in many Illinois courts in jig time prior to the new law. Some of the "divorce mills" in small towns outside Chicago operated day and night cutting marriage bonds. They are enjoying a final fling before the new plan is set up.

Divorce attorneys are not unanimously in support of the 60-day cooling off period. Many of them maintain that until a national law of divorce is established, it is futile for any one state to try to cope with the problem alone.

Its citizens simply will rush into other states where they do not need to "cool off." However, then they will have to wait out the residency periods, Judge Miner points out.

Miss Clara J. Lile Summoned Sunday

Miss Clara J. Lile, 79, died in McClellan Hospital, Xenia, early Sunday, following several years of ill health. She had been a patient at the hospital the past two months.

Miss Lile formerly taught school at Xenia and Waynesville for many years before retiring some 15 years ago. Most of the time since she retired she had made her home with her sister, Mrs. N. P. Clyburn, and Mr. Clyburn, in Washington C. H.

In addition to her sister here she is survived by several nieces and nephews.

Friends may call at the Neeld Funeral Home, West Market Street, Xenia, from 3 to 5 and 7 to 9 P. M. Monday.

Funeral services will be held at the Neeld Funeral Home Tuesday at 3 P. M. and burial made in the Woodlawn Cemetery, Xenia.

A Good Law To Be Top Election Issue

Powerful forces were mobilized in the effort to persuade Congress to repeal the Taft-Hartley Act in toto, and to return to the Wagner Act. That effort has failed. The Taft-Hartley law has been retained with no important changes.

It is clear that some of the heads of the big unions plan to make repeal a top issue in next year's congressional elections, and that the administration will pursue a similar policy. That being true, it is important that the public understand just what the law does and does not do.

It does not "enslave labor." It does not take away from any union any legitimate right. It in no way weakens the power of labor to organize, and to bargain with management over wages, hours, pensions or any other disputed point. It does not forbid strikes.

What it does do, among other things, is to partially loosen the stranglehold that the leaders have held over union members, to put some semblance of democratic procedures into the internal conduct of unions, and to prevent certain practices which can only be described as racketeering. For the first time, it gives union members—the people who pay the dues and perform the work—a voice in the policies of the organizations they make possible.

It is the opinion of the majority in Congress that the Taft-Hartley Act, whatever its weaknesses may be, is the best labor law we have yet had, and the best that can be written and passed at this time. The record to date proves that view to be right.

Behind Schedules

The efforts of an engineer, proud of his record, to make up the lost time of a train behind schedule have inspired many a mournful ballad, like "Wreck of the Old '97" and the immortal "Casey Jones." The note of disaster in such ballads is not altogether fictional, for a spurt of speed to make up time has led to more than one serious rail accident. Strangely one of the most remarkable of these romantic feats of engine-driving has been almost forgotten.

Perhaps the number of the locomotive—7002—was not right for song writing. But hooked to one of the Pennsylvania Railroad's crack trains, 25 minutes late on a run to Chicago one night in 1905, old number 7002 pulled it up to a speed of 127 miles an hour, a record for steam trains which still stands. Yet, it made Chicago on time, in fact had three minutes to spare. But most of the yawning passengers who stepped down had no idea they had been aboard for the making of railroad history. The making of history is like that.

Imported Ideas

It is still possible for opponents of a new idea to arrest attention, at least temporarily, by suggesting that the idea comes from abroad. There are shreds here and there of prejudice against "foreign" ideas.

Many treasured American institutions came from abroad. The secret ballot form commonly used is an Australian creation. The doctrine of a three-branch government was borrowed from the French philosopher Montesquieu. The general framework of American government is based on English developments.

The peculiar genius of America is not so much the invention of new and strictly American ideas as the trait of putting old ideas to new uses.

Business in Washington C. H. ought to be pretty good this fall, regardless of this talk about a decline in economic activity.

It seems that there is always going to be a coal strike, except when there is one.

The best way to learn things is generally the hard way, but it pays.

Hunters and Deer Trade Places

INLET, N. Y.—(P)—Cuss that old Louisiana Purchase exposition held out in St. Louis, Mo., way back in 1904!

Here—45 years later—it's causing a scarcity of wild deer in the central Adirondack Mountains.

So says Gerald Kenwell, 62, the best woodsman hereabouts. This is his reasoning:

"Some of our guides went out to the St. Louis fair. They saw some beavers on exhibition. Looked real cute, so they brought a pair back and turned them loose. Then somebody put out some more."

Protected for years by a closed hunting season and with a few natural enemies to catch them, the beaver thrived like rabbits. And now, Kenwell says, they've got nature out of balance.

"The beaver is the death of the woods," he said. "They've dammed up the streams and flooded the natural winter quarters for the deer, leaving the deer nothing to eat."

"And they're destroying the

Stalin Biography Not Objective

Isaac Deutscher's biography "Stalin" comes importantly at a moment when Stalin is probably the most significant person on this earth. He not only is despised over 600,000,000 human beings, but he has thoroughly organized agencies in every country consisting of men and women who obey his will and adore him as though he were a god.

Two important biographies of Stalin have heretofore appeared, Souvarine's and Trotsky's, and neither may be regarded as objective, if objectivity is possible in this field. Certainly, the Deutscher book, brilliantly written, is not objective. Mr. Deutscher, while he obviously abhors Stalin, would save the reputation of Stalin's government. This becomes clear in the selection of his material in the omissions and in the consistency of certain types of errors. It is impossible to divorce Stalin from his government because he is the government.

Nevertheless, this is an important and valuable book and will be read with advantage by those who are interested in the freak personality that Stalin undoubtedly is. For this man by birth, figure, training and intellectual endowments is unfitted for the task in which he has succeeded so magnificently and yet so damnably. Trotsky's biography is tougher reading than Deutscher's, who possesses a pliant pen.

I made the point that selection and omission were inevitable because this is not and could not be a definitive work, first because the author had to bring his manuscript down to a single volume.

What I find difficult to understand is the consistency in the type of error of fact, and I find that other students of the Russian revolution have discovered the same phenomenon, one of them having compiled a list of such errors which forms a pattern that is puzzling.

For instance, Mr. Deutscher questions the legitimacy of the Provisional Government which in 1917 took over after the Revolution and which Lenin and Trotsky overthrew. He says:

"... The constitutional title-deeds of the (Provisional) Government were dubious: It was formed on the initiative of a few members of the last Duma, the discredited quasi-parliament which had, moreover, been disbanded by the Tsar."

In the first place, no revolutionary government can be legitimate, as that would be a contradiction in terms. The last legitimate government of Russia was that of Czar Nicholas II who abdicated to his brother. Then came the Provisional Government which could have had no "constitutional title-deeds," as it seized power. Certainly the Bolshevik government of Lenin and Trotsky was illegitimate because it too seized power. I was there at the time and witnessed their brutal reign of terror. Certainly Stalin's despotism has no "constitutional title-deeds."

Historically, of what importance is all this? And that has puzzled me because I cannot understand why Deutscher raises the issue. Similarly when he describes Lenin's trip from Switzerland across Germany to Russia in a sealed car, he says that this was arranged "by French, Swedish and German socialists." This is quite untrue. The deal was made by Parvus, a German secret agent, Count Brockdorff-Rantzau, later German ambassador to Russia, Erzberger, chief of German military propaganda, and Count Maltzan, associated with the German general staff. This is so amply documented that it is surprising that Deutscher omits it, unless he seeks to save the reputation of the birth of Stalin's government.

In a word, certain events which occurred in 1917, either immediately before or during the period when I worked in Russia as a newspaper editor in the city of Petrograd, do not come out precisely as I witnessed them or heard about them from some who were most active in them. Also in places, Deutscher conflicts with Angelica Balabanoff, who played an important part in the party activities of those days, she being the first secretary of the third international.

Apart from such consistent errors, the Deutscher book is the best yet on Stalin and will serve the purposes of those who want to know about the man rather than the background of events that raised him to the throne of Ivan the terrible in whose image he rules.

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

WHOOPIING cough is a dangerous disease, particularly in children less than two years of age.

Starting gradually with symptoms much like those of an ordinary cold, it steadily grows worse until the typical whooping develops. Coughing attacks are severe and are often followed by vomiting. After a week or so of this, the child is not only exhausted from the repeated coughing but weakened by poor nutrition.

Until now we have had no specific treatment for this disease, though streptomycin has been used with benefit in many instances, and penicillin has proved a great boon in checking the pneumonia which is one of the most dangerous complications of whooping cough.

Recently, one of the newer antibiotics—aureomycin—has been tried in the treatment of whooping cough. Aureomycin has the advantage in that it may be administered by mouth.

Used in Animals

Before trying the aureomycin in human beings, it was used in animals infected with whooping cough. It was shown that in these animals the aureomycin delayed the time of death in many instances and in some cases prevented the death of the animals.

Levy and Bond Proposals To Feature Voting

Office Candidates To Share Interest With Money Issues

In addition to the candidates to be voted on at the coming Nov. 8 election, there are three state issues up, and numerous local issues, including a $30,000 bond issue for the purpose of completing the present Bloomingburg school building and constructing a new building to be used as a gymnasium and other educational purposes. The bonds are to mature yearly for a period of 12 years. A 65 percent affirmative vote is necessary for passage.

A countywide vote will be taken on the tax levy for the purpose of providing additional funds for current expenses. The levy is for one mill for 1949, '50 and '51. A 65 percent vote is necessary for passage.

The Board of Education of Washington, C. H. is asking for renewal of six mills for the next five years, for the purpose of paying the current expenses of the schools. A majority vote is all that is necessary.

Tax levies of one mill are asked in Concord, Green, Jasper, Perry and Wayne townships for four years, for providing protection against fire and providing and maintaining fire apparatus and appliances.

Madison Township is asking 12-mill levy for four years for the same purpose. A 65 percent vote is necessary to carry.

Wayne Township school district is asking for a two-mill levy for three years for the purpose of providing for current expenses of the school district.

Paint Township school district also has a two-mill levy for three years for providing an adequate amount for necessary expenses of the school districts. A majority vote is necessary for passage.

Roy Smith Appointed Service Contact Man

Roy Smith, owner and operator of the Smith Court on the Columbus Highway, has been appointed an authorized service representative for the state of Ohio by the U. S. Air Compressor Company in Cleveland.

Smith will handle sales for the Cleveland concern in the southern part of the state and will be an authorized service representative for air compressors, lifts and lubrications.

A graduate from MIT with an electrical engineering degree, Smith is married and the father of three children.

His appointment came last Tuesday following completion of a survey by him of air compressors for the Gulf Refining Company of Toledo.

Prior to coming to Washington C. H., Smith operated the Roy Smith Air Compressor Corporation in Brooklyn, N. Y. and at one time handled the wholesale distribution and service of Westinghouse air brakes in New England.

He said for the time being he will handle this business in his garage and basement.

Soybean Harvest Gets Under Way

Sales Showing Upward Trend

During the week ending September 17 every county in this immediate area, including Fayette showed substantial increases in sales of prepaid tax receipts, this county's increase having been from $5,022.13 for the same week last year to $7,273.04 during the week this year.

The recent increases send the total in Fayette County since July 1 to $67,579.79 compared with $68,478.10 for the same week last year.

In the state at large totals for the week ending Sept. 17 this year reached $2,266,357, compared with $2,417,099 for the same week in 1948.

Housing Here Eases

apartments vacant in the community on a single day.

The postmen reported 29 units vacant on the day chosen for the survey. Smith said a check was made immediately to determine whether the units were actually ready for renting.

Of the 29, Smith said, only one was available for renting. Others the owners said, either had been rented, were being remodeled or for some other reason were not on the rental market.

Smith paints a dark picture of housing in this community. He said prospective tenants were having extreme difficulty getting either unfurnished apartments or houses to rent.

Realtors share his views, pointing out that there are apartments for rent but then adding: "What kind though?"

One real estate man said the "apartments are too high and don't have the conveniences they should have."

Big Demand For Homes

There apparently is a large number of apartment dwellers who would eagerly move into homes if they could find them.

But a study of want ads in the Record-Herald for September this year, 1948 and 1949 indicates that there is still an acute shortage of home rentals here.

For instance in 1941 there was a home advertised for rent almost every day during the month; in 1948 there were four during the entire month and this month there were 14.

Demand for home rentals hasn't slackened much for at least a couple of good reasons: (1) Many apartment dwellers have outgrown their apartments with the arrival of children since the war and (2) There haven't been many homes here for rental property.

This leaves a big segment of the rental population in this community — and it's bigger than many other cities of comparable size — thirsting for homes to rent.

Rentals Pay Off

Many landlords are finding that the rental business is paying off, especially if they own large homes which can readily be converted into apartments. Some who had rents frozen during the war aren't out so well.

With some of the restrictions off the rent control regulations it was possible for landlords here to raise their rents by remodeling and effecting repairs.

The average number of apartments advertised for rent each day during September this year was six, compared to 2.8 per day during September of 1948 and seven per day during September, 1949.

Apparently though the rent control officials in Columbus feel that Washington C. H. feel that there's still plenty of need here for rent control enforcement.

They recently authorized an extension of hours in the rent office at the Armory from a half day on Wednesday to a full day on Thursday.

Pork Plentiful On Foods List

Drop in Prices Being Predicted

Plenty of pork at slashed prices was predicted today by the United States Department of Agriculture in its monthly summary of plentiful foods.

Pork production is such that generous supplies will be reaching October markets, and retail prices are expected to drop to the lowest point in many years, the USDA said.

Heavy spring pig farrowing, plus the large supply of corn, were given as being responsible for the market condition.

Plentiful supplies of other protein foods were also listed by the department. Broilers, fryers and hens, as well as turkeys, are well up on the plentiful list.

Only three fruits, apples, grapes and pears, will be abundant during October. Large size apples of unusually good quality will be reaching markets throughout the fall.

Cabbage and lettuce are expected by the USDA to continue plentiful into October, and canned corn, from this year's third largest crop in history, will be an excellent supply at reasonable prices.

Since October is the height of the sweet potato marketing season, that vegetable will be available in large supply for a few weeks. Not more than an adequate supply is forecast after October.

Plenty of pullet and grade B eggs will be on the October market.

September Was Cool Month

Average Temperature Below Normal

Temperature during September was nearly five degrees cooler than the normal for the month, as disclosed by the monthly summary made by U. S. Weather Observer, Coyt A. Stookley.

Normal for the month of September is 66.1 degrees and last month the average was 61.4 degrees.

Rainfall was about half an inch below normal, the total having been 1.95 compared with a normal of 2.43 degrees.

A thundershower occurred Sept. 22, and the maximum for the month was 86 on Sept. 5. The low point was 32 degrees on the last day.

YOUR NEWSPAPER BOY!

Boys have energy to burn! Every healthy, normal boy keeps himself busy with sports and interesting hobbies.

* We feel sure your boy is no exception.

But if your boy's spare time is all play and no work, has it ever occurred to you that you may be depriving him of character-building lessons in thrift, salesmanship and business methods, all of which could be worth thousands of dollars to him during his lifetime?

Some of America's greatest military, business, political and professional leaders received their first business training as newspaper carrier boys.

Newspaper carrier salesmen are independent merchants. They manage their own business. They buy at wholesale; sell at retail. The difference is their profit.

They learn about sales, services, collecting and record keeping, all basic fundamentals for success in any business or profession they may choose to enter later on in life.

Every subscriber can help their carrier achieve their rightful goal in life.

Will you do your part?

It involves much more than just taking your paper delivery for granted each night, it means the molding of our youth for the future.

Jerry Donohoe

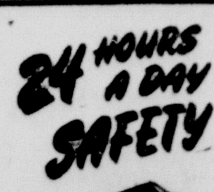

One Record-Herald newsboy who makes good use of the money he earns delivering newspapers is Jerry Donohoe.

Jerry disclosed that he is saving his money under a Christmas savings plan for buying yule presents. With other money he makes on his route Jerry buys his school clothes and books.

Young Donohoe, an eighth grader, was 13 September 25. He has been delivering Record-Heralds to doorsteps along Fayette Street, Circle Avenue and Main Street about two years.

Jerry, whose parents died when he was a small boy, lives with his grandmother and an uncle at 109 Water Street.

His main interest aside from his paper route is playing baseball and football.

Sorority Plans International Night Program

An International Night program conducted by all Beta Sigma chapters in their respective localities throughout the world on the same night will be an event of Tuesday, October 4. Beta Sigma Phi believes that the friendship and cooperation, the sympathy and understanding which held the people of different countries together in such close fellowship during the war, is equally important in the less colorful times of peace. This is the purpose behind their International Night held through the membership.

It is clearly understood that such international friendship and understanding cannot be brought about in a one night program, but it is an excellent beginning and a means of stressing the importance of international friendships in the hearts of individuals and between individuals in different countries before such friendships can be achieved between and among nations.

Ohio Zeta Upsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi has invited Mrs. Nell Paul, an exchange teacher who taught school in England during the past year, to be its guest at a dinner at Anderson's Drive-Inn followed by a theater party. Mrs. Paul will speak to the group on her experience in England and the customs and home life of the English people.

Patti Maddux is chairman in charge of arrangements for the International Night program.

Hannah Kay Case Is Complimented On Fifth Birthday

Hannah Kay Case was the cunning young honor guest on Saturday afternoon when her mother, Mrs. John P. Case entertained a group of children between the hours of two-thirty and five, complimenting her fifth birthday anniversary. Out door games and music were enjoyed during the earlier part of the afternoon and colorful balloons were given as favors. Hannah opened her lovely array of gifts and also presented Betsey Ann Woodyard, who celebrated her fourth birthday anniversary on Saturday with a special gift.

The children enjoyed movies shown by Mr. Case, and later were seated at one long table with the colors of yellow, red and white carried out in the circus theme decorations. The birthday cake bore the names of Hannah and Betsey and clown nut cups marked each cover. The afternoon came to a close with a treasure hunt in which the children found pots of gold, made up of small golden packages of candy which each small guest received. Mrs. Case was assisted in the hospitality by Mrs. John W. Case and Mrs. Karl J. Kay.

Invited guests included Joda Campbell, Jane Davis, Patsy, Marty and Betsey Ann Woodyard, Harriett Coulter Sarah and Johnny Core, Stevie and Becky Herbert, Tommy and Gladys Spettigue, Randy Bolton, Teddy Vance, Richard Valley, Jackie Persinger, the honor guest's small sister Nelly Maude, Suzanne Frazier of Williamsport and Bruce Pickering of Jamestown.

Flags Clinched In Final Games

Championship Battle To Open Wednesday

By RALPH RODEN

The New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers open the 1949 World Series in the Yankee stadium Wednesday following the tightest major league pennant races in 41 years.

Both World Series races clinched their pennants yesterday, the final day of the season. The Yankees gained American League honors by dusting off the Boston Red Sox, 5-3, before 68,055 fans at the Yankee Stadium. The victory enabled the Yanks to break a first place stalemate with the Sox and win by one game.

Brooklyn nailed down the National flag by outslugging the Philadelphia Phillies, 9-7, in ten innings at Philadelphia to finish one game in front of the St. Louis Cardinals. The Cardinals pasted the Cubs, 13-5, in Chicago to no avail.

For the Yanks, it will be their 16th appearance in baseball's blue ribbon classic. The Dodgers will be making their fifth bid to capture baseball's highest honor. They have yet to win a series. The Yanks have 11 series scalps dangling from their belts.

There have been close races in either the National or American League before but the super-duper finishes in both leagues this year was unmatched since 1908.

In 1946 the Cards and Dodgers wound up in tie with the Cards winning the playoff. Last year the Red Sox and Cleveland finished in a dead heat with the Indians winning the playoff but in 1908 three teams in each circuit charged down the stretch.

Vic Raschi pitched the Yanks into World Series glory with a glittering five-hitter. Raschi, who posted his 21st victory, had the Sox, pre-season favorites, blanked on two hits going into the ninth when he faltered and yielded three runs before Birdie Tebbetts fouled out to end Boston's hopes.

Tommy Henrich and Jerry Coleman drove home all the Yankee runs. Phil Rizzuto tripled and scored the first run on Henrich's grounder in the first inning. Henrich homered off Mel Parnell, who relieved starter and loser Ellis Kinder in the eighth and Coleman doubled home three more runs in the eighth off Tex Hughson.

Singles by Pee Wee Reese, Duke Snider and Luis Olmo brought the Dodgers victory in overtime at Philadelphia. The Dodgers blew a 5-0 lead but air-tight pitching by Jack Banta over the final four and one third innings saved the day for the D's.

Stan Musial with two home runs and Chuck Diering with one paced the Cards and Howie Pollet to his 20th victory in Chicago. The victory ended a four game Cardinal losing streak but it came too late.

The Boston Braves, last year's National League champs, came in fourth. They beat the Giants, 2-1, in their final game with Warren Spahn racking up his 21st victory. In other National League games, Pittsburgh split with Cincinnati, winning the opener, 4-2, and losing the nightcap, 6-5. Ralph Kiner failed to hit a homer and wound up with 54.

Cleveland's 1948 American League titlist defeated Detroit, 8-4, and finished third. In the other American League windups, last place Washington blanked Philadelphia, 3-0, and St. Louis split with Chicago, winning the second game, 5-3, after losing the first, 4-3.

Jackie Robinson of Brooklyn won the National League batting championship with a .342 mark, beating out Musial by three points. George Kell of Detroit won the American League crown, edging Ted Williams of Boston, .3429 to .34275.

Chillicothe Beats Bryden 6 to 1

Chillicothe pulled a surprise Sunday.

The champions of the SCO circuit piled on Ewen Bryden for nine hits to beat the Jeffersonville Cubs, 6 to 1, Sunday at the Jeffs home field.

Stout hurled for the winners and gave up but four hits to the Cubs.

The game was a post-league affair, the benefits of which will go for the league dinner thrown annually in honor of the players. It will be held at Lancaster this year.

Sidelights of Baseball

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—(AP)—St. Louis betting Commissioner James J. Carroll has installed the New York Yankees as 5 to 9 favorites for the world series. He quoted the Dodgers at 8-5, so you knew all along it would be the Dodgers and Yanks, eh? Well, you're better than the country's baseball experts. Only three of them called the two winners and two others saw the Yanks winning in the 143 writers who voted in the Associated Press pre-season poll.

One of the questions that probably never will be answered is: what would have happened if Joe DiMaggio had been available to the Yanks for the entire year? Many experts think the Yanks would have made an even better showing if they were not crippled by injuries. At any rate, the Yanks will go down in history as the team that suffered the most injuries--17 in all. The Red Sox got some bad breaks at the start of the season, too.

Neither Casey Stengel nor Burt Shotton is giving out with the starting pitcher for the first game, but a good guess for the Dodgers would be big Don Newcombe, and the Yanks Ed Lopat. Other possibilities are Preacher Roe for the Brooks or Allie Reynolds for the Yanks.

This will be the first world series in history with a television network, and, even more significant, the first to pipe action into a few theaters where admission will be charged for big screen showings. This could be the forerunner of a source of revenue that could reach millions.

Strictly from a financial viewpoint, the National League were rooting the Yanks home. The Yankee Stadium seats 70,000, roughly twice the capacity of Fenway Park, which can squeeze in 36,000. Had Boston and St. Louis won, the series would not have been worth much to the players. Sportman's Park, St. Louis, seats only 34,000. Ebbets Field seats 35,000.

The old adage that the races will finish as they stand on July 4 held up. Both Brooklyn and New York were ahead at the time... but Red Sox Manager Joe McCarthy observed then that the Red Sox were about due to get some breaks. That one also came true.

This one was the closest pennant chase since 1908, when it was even tighter. That year, Detroit beat out Cleveland by a half-game, with Chicago another game and a half in arrears. The Giants got home first in the senior loop by tipping Chicago in a replay of a 1-1 tie.

Dodgers don't have a single 20-game winner on their pitching staff, while the Yanks have only Vic Raschi, who notched his 21st yesterday. Of the Yankees, only DiMaggio, a part-timer all season, had 300 or better. He compiled a .346 mark. Among the Dodgers, the regulars in the top bracket included Jackie Robinson, whose .342, won the title; Carl Furillo, .322, Louis Olmo, .308 and Gene Hermanski .304.

All-Stars Lose To Bowersville

Win by 16-12 Score in SWO League Classic

Bowersville refused to tremble before the array of stars assembled against them and whipped the SWO All-Stars, 16 to 12, in the league classic at Wilson Field Sunday.

The league champions turned loose all their artillery as they smashed out 19 hits in coming from behind to win.

Compton did the mound chores and got credit for the win.

The Wackman-Whited battery of Good Hope opened the game for the All-Stars and Alex proved a reliable as ever in the four innings he worked.

He struck out four, walked none and gave up three runs on three hits, one a homer by Klein, before leaving the game with the All-Stars ahead, 5 to 3.

Bob Dawes of the WCH Moose and Bryan of Greenfield came in as the new battery in the fifth.

Bob did a rare and admirable thing for a pitcher when he faced a few batters and found he didn't have his stuff. He took himself out of the game.

Wilson of Greenfield replaced Bob on the hill and Bowersville continued to explode with hits and runs.

Kenny Dawes of the Moose finished the game for the All-Stars. Wilson received credit for the loss.

A few circuit blows were hampered out by the sluggers of the day. Besides Klein's for the winners, Mossbarger of Greenfield and Whited of Good Hope hit homers. Whited's was a tremendous blow over that distant centerfield fence, it was reported.

The Stars gathered ten hits in all, while making two miscues a-field. Bowersville was guilty of three errors.

Army and Michigan To Meet Saturday

BY JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Army and Michigan, two of the nation's college football titans, clash in an old time donnybrook Saturday at Ann Arbor.

Although this probably will rate as the No. 1 fracas of the day, several other tilts are calculated to hoist the blood pressure to dangerous levels. For instance:

Texas and Oklahoma, two old buddies who have been battling each others' ears off in a traditional rivalry dating back to 1900. They meet at Dallas, with no holds barred.

Ohio State and Southern California at Los Angeles, with the Trojans determined to boost Pacific coast grid prestige, and the Buckeyes hoping this won't be the only trip west this season. They'd like to return New Year's Day as the Big Ten's representative in the Rose Bowl.

And down in Baltimore, a re-juvenated Navy eleven tackles Duke, a revitalized blue devil array that could be heading back to the football fields.

There are plenty of others on tap as the collegians swing into full gear, but these are the big ones.

As for Army and Michigan, take your pick. West Point's new team, showing no signs of weakness through graduation, plastered Penn State last week, 42-7. On the other coast, meanwhile, Michigan carved out a 27-7 verdict over Stanford.

Oklahoma pinned a 33-12 defeat on Texas A. & M. last week and Texas turned up for the sooners by taking Idaho apart, 56-7.

Ohio State continued its high scoring antics by submerging Indiana, 46-7, and Southern California had no trouble downing Washington State, 35-7.

The citron is one of the oldest citrus fruits known to man, and is mentioned in the early part of the Bible.

Race Is Tightening In Grange League

The Grange League bowling race today was beginning to tighten up after only two rounds.

Only one team, Good Hope No. 2, was able to come through with a clean sweep of its match at Bowland Saturday night. The other three matches were split-decision affairs.

The Madison Boosters were whitewashed by the Good Hope team, but the margin of victory was so small that the outcome was in the balance until the last pin was toppled.

High score of the series went to the Madison Aces when they hit 2553 while losing two out of three to the Good Hope No. 1 team with 2491.

Both of the other matches were of the nip and tuck variety, too.

The Fayette Masters edged the Madison Specials, two out of three, and the Madison Hustlers took the same kind of verdict in their match with the Fayette Executives.

Octave Blake Remains Grand Circuit Prexy

LEXINGTON, Ky. Oct. 3.—(AP)—Octave Blake of South Plainfield, N. J., was elected yesterday to his fourth consecutive term as president of Harness Racing's Grand Circuit. The present slate of officers was returned with Blake for the 1950 season.

The District of Columbia has 34 miles of railway.

Reds Escape League Cellar By One Game

CINCINNATI, Oct. 3.—(AP)—The bedraggled Cincinnati Reds almost made it into a tie with the Chicago Cubs for that last place in the National League which was so freely predicted for them last spring.

As it turned out, a 6 to 5 victory over Pittsburgh yesterday in the very last game of the 1949 season saves seventh place for the managess Redlegs. Pittsburgh took the opener of the last day doubleheader, 4 to 2.

Three of the old timers in the Cincinnati lineup collaborated to keep the Reds in control of seventh place. Ken Raffensberger pitched his 18th victory of the season and home runs by Danny Litwhiler and Jimmy Bloodworth were the big scoring blows.

And so the Reds finished the season just as they started it—with a victory behind Raffensberger's pitching. But in between those two triumphs were 92 licks and only 60 other victories.

Individually, Raffensberger's feat of winning 18 games—even though he lost 17—was quite an achievement with a seventh place club. The Reds also wound up with two batters among the league's top ten. Ted Kluszewski finished at .308 for seventh place and Harry Walker had .301 for a tie for ninth and tenth.

With members of the team either heading for the World Series—as spectators, of course—or their homes, the big time of unfinished business was the selection of a manager to succeed Bucky Walters, who was lifted from the job last week.

Thus far, club officials have given no indication as to their possible choice.

Competition Keen In Couples League

Keen competition is in prospect in the Couples League if Sunday's matches are any preview of the future.

Indians Buy Pitcher

CLEVELAND, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Purchase of young George Zuverink, a right-hand pitcher, from their Oklahoma City Farm Club was announced today by The Cleveland Indians.

Lion Cubs To Play Circleville Here

The Lion Cubs, who were handed a 26-6 defeat at Xenia last week in their opening game, today faced three days of rugged workouts and polishing in preparation for their first home game of the season Thursday.

Circleville's Tiger Cubs are scheduled to come here to help raise the curtain on the Junior high school football festivities at Gardner Park at 7 P. M.

Coach Ronald Guinn of the Cubs has culled about a five-team squad out of the more than 150 youngsters who answered his call for football.

In general, the lineup for Thursday night's game will not be changed much for the opening kickoff. But, as usual, there will be a lot of substitutions. That was the word that came from the Wilson Field camp of the Cubs.

The Tigers and Lion Cubs broke even in their home-and-home series last year. The Tigers won the first set-to, 20 to 14, in the rain. The Lions won the return game 6-0.

The WHS Cubs finished the season last year with a record of six victories and that one defeat at the hands of the Circleville boys.

Two 1-0 Games At Otis Cook Benefit

A good-sized softball crowd at Greenfield contributed about $250 in admissions for the Otis Cook benefit twin-bill Sunday and saw two thrillers.

The Drakes shaded the Greenfield Eagles 1 to 0, behind Joe Drake's one-hit pitching. Murphy, the losing hurler, gave up three hits.

In the finale, the Strousser and Company team, from Chillicothe, edged the Sabina club by a 1 to 0 score in the second hair-raiser.

Sabina garnered three hits while the winners used just two hits to bring in the winning marker.

But the real winner was the person for whom the four topflight teams were playing - Otis Cook. Otis, a popular catcher in old-time baseball days in this area, is ill at the present time and the doubleheader was a tribute, a way in which a fellow sportsman could be helped.

CHAPTER THIRTY-NINE

CHRIS spoke harshly to his wife. "Suppose you tell them the important factor--which was that we fell in love."

"Oh, yes," Terry said listlessly. "we fell in love. There's nothing incredible about it. And I had no training. I was not equipped to earn a living. I didn't, as a matter of fact, want to," she said coolly. "So it seemed to me that a good marriage was the only solution. Who could suspect me of a mercenary motive? When I fell in love with Chris I thought I was very fortunate. To marry for love--and into money."

"Chris!" said Jack, and laughed. "Chris said, 'Shut up, will you?'"

He looked at his uncle. "Well, we both labored under a misapprehension. I thought I was fortunate too."

Cordelia said, and her son and husband looked at her in amazement. "And weren't you--both of you?"

For the first time Chris smiled. He said, "In all my life you have never said anything so friendly, Aunt Cordelia."

"Let me tell them," said Terry. "from the beginning."

It took a long time to tell, sitting there while the fire sighed on the hearth, the wind rose, and the sea hammered against the rocks. She omitted nothing, neither her father's story nor her own, nor her decision, her meeting with Chris and her quite comprehensible mistake. Nor did she omit that morning in the New York hotel and their adjustment to the altered conditions. She said finally, "It could have gone on for some time, I suppose, if Roger Ameny hadn't come to Cape Cod and then followed us here."

"This will provide a great deal of amusement for a great many people," Jack commented.

Cordelia shuddered, inwardly. The picture was very clear. She thought, But I liked her, and almost instantly Terry said wearily, "When you seemed to like me, all of you, I was happy. But not entirely. Because how much of it was for myself?"

Jack said, "A lot. You're a very attractive girl." He went over to the table where the decanters stood and mixed himself a long stiff drink. He added thoughtfully, "There's a way out of this with the minimum of gossip."

"How?" inquired his father.

"No one has really expected Chris to settle down here," said Jack, "so no one will be astonished if he and Terry decide suddenly to return to the mainland. Of course, the true picture will be exhibited, as Terry said, sooner or later. But for the time being no one will wonder. We can weather such dinner-table discussions as arise now--and later. It isn't the first time that we've--"

Chris broke in. "You're wonderful, Jack. Why don't we say it baldly? None of you has ever had any use for me and you don't come out of this much better than Terry and I do. For when I came home with, apparently, a rich wife, you killed me not one but several calves. In honor, I suppose, of the golden bull. By the simple process of marrying I had redeemed myself."

"That's not true," said Cordelia sharply. "We merely hoped that with the right wife--"

"But the right wife had to be able to club me into respectability with a checkbook?" he asked.

"Well, whatever you thought, you've been amiable, and I appreciate it. Jack's even been moved to envy, I think. He has always hated my guts, but recently he--"

"Chris!" said his aunt. "Chris!" said his aunt. "Chris!" said his aunt.

"It's true enough. When we were kids, I could beat him at almost any game, and then later there was Lilla."

"What has Lilla to do with this?" inquired Jack. He finished his drink and set down the glass. His face was congested with anger.

"Nothing," said Chris swiftly, "except as one explanation of why you and I, as the saying goes, have never got along."

"There's no point in past quarrels and recriminations," said Hugo sharply. "Whatever you and Jack's relationship, it isn't germane to the situation. It is true that you have been a disappointment, Chris. I have told you so many times. You were headstrong from childhood, you grew up rebellious and spendthrift. There was a place for you here and a future but you would not take it. I wrote you, if you remember, during the war. We were all proud of your record. I asked you to come home, but you would not. I recall your answer. In it you blamed me for many things, including your position, as you put it, of poor relation. It was not my doing. My father did not consult me when he provided for your father."

Cordelia made a quick, brusque gesture, very unlike her. She said, "I think we're getting away from the immediate problem."

"What problem?" asked Terry. "You don't have to save face just because you thought Chris had married a girl with money, do you? Chris thought so too. He didn't know she was next to penniless and that her father was a thief," Her voice rose. "You're safe," she said. "What can touch you? Chris has never been one of you except by blood. I'm not one of you either. As for my father, you knew him slightly, but what happened to him can hardly concern you."

"Yet it does," said Hugo. "You have pointed out that Chris is by blood a member of this family; and you are by marriage. Anything which concerns you concerns us."

Chris said softly, "Even the Russells and perhaps especially the Russells are not above disliking gossip--about themselves. When Great-uncle Josiah took a notion to marry his cook--"

"Chris!" cried his aunt. "Terry isn't interested in--"

"They ganged up on him and saw to it that he didn't--"

on calmly. "And there are other instances; such as the time when fourth-cousin Amy's mother discovered that Amy was pregnant. They took a nice long trip to the mainland and when they came back Amy was properly married off. You met Amy, Terry, a proper young matron, very holier-than-thou. Maybe if they'd let her have the baby... maybe if Great-uncle had married the cook, Amy's disposition wouldn't have suffered nor old Josh's digestion. I could go on for hours--"

"Not," said his uncle, "tonight."

Chris said equably, "Well, there it is, Terry. We just don't like being talked about unpleasantly."

"Which we will be," prophesied Jack. "Surely you haven't forgotten Mr. Ameny. What do you propose to do about him?"

Chris said, "It's very simple. You and I tie him up with a bed sheet and hurl him off a cliff. Most effective. We regret it. He jumped or fell under the influence of strong drink. Who'd question it at Naniola?"

"I'd be gratified," said his uncle. "if you were less facetious. I am sure Mr. Ameny will prefer to leave in the morning. Jack and I will go with him, the rest of you will remain here until he has left the Islands. I am quite certain he will be willing to leave, and, I hope, on the first plane."

Chris laughed. "Amenly," he remarked, "is a stinker. But he's an adult stinker. He isn't, however, a Russell or even a remote connection, by marriage or otherwise; nor an employee who has been dismissed. He's a free agent. You can ease him off Tantalus but not, if he's become attached to our climate, on a plane. He can go to a hotel, he can stay as long as he wishes or as long as he can afford, and he can talk as much as he pleases to whomever will listen. It's going to make a very good story. So far he knows only one side of it. But practically anybody will enlighten him as to my standing in the community. Which should give him an unexpected belly laugh."

Hugo said, "I admit I hadn't thought so far."

"Console yourself with the realization that nothing can reflect upon you," said Chris.

Terry got to her feet. She was stiff, she ached. She said uncertainly, "I don't see what good all this is doing. Could we talk about it in the morning?"

She was purged, she was clean and empty. And Cordelia, looking at the young white face, experienced a pang of compassion against her will, against even her principles. She said, "Of course, Chris, take Terry upstairs." She tried to smile. "When you come down again, I think Mr. Ameny will have left," she added.

By RAY BRANDENBURG

It was just 100 years ago, on Oct. 7, 1849, that James Whitcomb Riley was born... and there are very few of us who've struggled through school in the past 50 years without being exposed to his verses. Among the best known are "Little Orphan Annie" and "When the Frost Is on the Punkin." In that last one he wrote, "They's somethin', kindo' harty-like about the atmosphere, when the heat of summer's over and the coolin' fall is here." Guess we all know that feeling. Riley was friendly and cheerful... which we can all try to be. He proved you don't have to be a world shaking tyrant to have your name remembered.

My orchids, this week go to the fine fellows who so kindly donated their blood to Donald. Often it takes sickness or accident, to bring out the fine qualities most everyone possesses. We, the entire family want everyone to know how much we appreciate the donations, and the many inquiries about Donald.

I fail to find words to adequately express our feelings, so will simply say "Thanks a Million." Don appreciated the many cards he has received and is improving daily.

It's great to live in, and be a part of a community like ours. We just read about a Dutchman who eats 16 newspapers each day with 10 ounces of sugar and a pound of pears. Well, that's one way to digest the news. Maybe that's carrying things a bit far, but we'll eat our words if you don't get the best body and fender job in town at R. ## Government Pension Increase Foreseen

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3--(AP)—Democratic leaders predicted today the House will pass overwhelmingly before adjournment a bill vastly broadening the government old age pension program.

The bill sped toward a House showdown as some labor unions threatened strikes if employers do not pay the whole cost of pension plans operating outside the government's social security. The Ford Motor Company agreed to such an independent plan yesterday. Under the government system the employees and employers equally share the cost.

The House ways and means committee voiced fear that company-financed programs, if not discouraged by passage of an improved government social security, may undermine the federal program. It said:

"Without an adequate and universally applicable basic social insurance system, the demands for security by segments of the population threaten to result in unbalanced, overlapping and competing programs. The financing of

Gold Star Father Faces Life Term

COLUMBUS, Oct. 3--(AP)—A "gold star father" was sentenced to Ohio Penitentiary for life yesterday for the slaying last June of his wife.

Oscar Tipton, about 55, described by his attorney as a "gold star father who became mentally ill because of the death of his son in 1943 on an air force mission," pleaded guilty of second-degree murder in the rifle slaying of his wife, Helen.

The Tiptons had been married 33 years.

Mrs. Tipton was slain while she slept. She had returned from a gold star mother's convention in Chicago a short time earlier.

Cabinet Members To Get Pay Boost

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3--(AP)—President Truman's cabinet members can look forward with assurance today to a pay boost following Senate approval of a bill to raise them from their present $15,000 a year to $22,500.

The Senate action, taken on a 52 to 14 vote Friday night, sent the measure back to the House, which previously had voted the department heads a $25,000 salary. Both bills also call for pay increases for a long list of other high government officials. Their differences must now be ironed out in conferences.

The date palm is the sacred tree of the Arabs.

County Schools Get 980 Books From Library

Several New Books Are Added to Shelves Of Carnegie Library

Youngsters in schools out county will have many long hours of reading following the distribution of 980 books by the Carnegie public library in Washington C. H.

This program is carried out each year to allow youngsters easy access to reading matter from teachers who loan the books out in school for either classroom work or home reading.

This first shipment of books will be supplemented by additional ones during the year. Those which have served their usefulness will be returned and exchanged for others.

During September there 2,974 books circulated from the library. Of this total, 1,999 were adult fiction, 466 adult non-fiction and 509 juvenile.

There were 30 new borrowers who joined the list of library users—14 adults from Washington C. H., eight juveniles in town; four adults in the county and two juveniles. There were two new borrowers from outside Fayette County.

Several books were given to the library. The gifts included the following books: Craven's "Cartoon Cavalcade," Roger's "Elementary Theosophy," Love's "Differential and Integral Calculus," Richmond's "Adolescent Boy," Tippey's "A Methodist Church and Its Work," Muencher's "Weeds," Foster and Barham's "The Niebuergs."

The following books have been purchased: Ingram's "Winning Your Way With People," and Clapp's "Drinking's Not the Problem," Levison's "Home Book of Trees and Shrubs," Preston's "North American Trees."

Others include the following: Levine's "A Baby Is Born," a book about sex education; Rothery's "Maryland and Virginia Roundabout," a history and description; Starkey's "The Devil in Massachusetts," a story about witchcraft.

Charles Holahan Dies at His Home

Charles Holahan, 69, died at 7:45 A. M. Monday at his home at 611 Leesburg Avenue.

He had been in failing health since he suffered a stroke of apoplexy three years ago. A second stroke last Thursday left him seriously ill.

Mr. Holahan was a parishioner of St. Colman's Church and a member of the Elks and Eagles lodges.

He was employed by the P. Hagerty Shoe Company for 45 years as a shoe cutter and was very active in both the Elks and Eagles when his health permitted.

Surviving are his wife, Betty; two daughters, Mrs. Joe Carman of Washington C. H. and Mrs. Elmer Huber of Osborn and two grandchildren.

He also leaves a brother, Michael of Dayton; three sisters, Mrs. Gregg Spraley of Louisville, Kentucky; Mrs. Harry Evans of Seattle, Washington, and Mrs. George Marchant.

Services will be held at 9:30 A. M. Thursday at St. Colman's Church.

Burial will be made in the Washington C. H. Cemetery.

County Courts

SEEKS JUDGMENT

Hazel Hogbin Rearick of Akron, makes James Percy Barger and others defendants in a suit for $900 judgment, with interest at 6 percent from June 12, 1947 as result of a divorce decree in Summit County June 4, 1947, under the terms of which James G. Hogbin, from whom she obtained a divorce, was to mortgage or sell lots 4 and 5, Fairview Addition in Washington C. H., and pay her $900 as her dower and in lieu of alimony.

The plaintiff, who is represented by Richard T. McCullough, of Stow; Clyburn and Lovell and E. S. Wodmansee, claims that after the court decree, Hogbin sold the property to Barger for $2500 or more, and absconded with the money. She claims a court order for his arrest for contempt has been issued, but service can not be obtained.

She further claims in her petition that Barger knew about the plaintiff's interest in the property when he purchased it.

The plaintiff claims it was a constructive trust, and asks sale of the property and that her claim be paid out of the proceeds.

CASE DISMISSED

The divorce action of June Charlene Hidy against Harry Hidy, has been dismissed upon application of the plaintiff.

DIVORCE ASKED

Hubert S. Moore asks for a divorce from Mary Catherine Moore, in a suit filed in common pleas court. The parties were married in Liberty, Ind., Sept. 19, 1937 and have four children, custody of whom is asked by the plaintiff, who is represented by Otis B. Core. A court order was issued restraining the defendant from interfering with the plaintiff.

Big Pipelines To Handle All Gas Necessary

Ultimate Amount to Be 740,000,000 Feet Daily

The ultimate daily capacity of the three big gas lines crossing Fayette County, will be 740,000,000 cubic feet daily, it was stated Monday by officials of the Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation, in announcing that work on the third line in Ohio had been completed to a point where gas deliveries this winter will be sufficient to meet demands under its expansion program.

Work on the 26 inch line was suspended in western Fayette County more than a month ago, until after first of the year, due to a pipe shortage, and the section was tied in with the big and little inch lines.

Forty-five miles of pipe are still to be laid next spring to complete the Ohio construction, the company said, but the 122.5 miles now in the ground, together with additional compressor station facilities installed, will provide enough capacity to handle all quantities of gas to be received this winter from Texas Gas Transmission Corporation's new Texas-to-Ohio pipe line now under construction.

The additional gas will be delivered to subsidiaries of Consolidated Natural Gas Corporation and Columbia Gas System and to other utility companies, Texas Eastern stated.

As part of the same construction program, work has been started in Louisiana on one section of 20-inch line that loops the company's Little Big Inch from Station E near Castor, La., northward to a point of connection with the Texas Gas line near Lisbon, La. This supply construction should be completed by the end of the year, the company announced.

Other parts of the program have been scheduled for construction next year, including another section of 20-inch "loop" in Texas and 100 miles of 16-inch line from the Provident City field in Lavaca.

County, Texas, to the Baytown, Texas, terminus of the Little Big Inch, Texas Eastern reported.

By the end of the year all construction necessary to make deliveries to Texas Gas at the supply connection at Lisbon, La., will be completed, the company stated.

Convict Is Cheered

"You need not worry about me while I am here," he said in a low, emotion-choked voice. Shine Phillips, the druggist who wrote the book, "Big Spring," that inspired Grandstaff to compose his music, introduced the convict to the crowd.

Grandstaff was sentenced to life in prison when convicted as an habitual criminal, mostly for petty larcenies, small thefts and forgeries.

But Big Spring is treating him as an honor guest—not a convict.

Food Spending Down

Before them (meeting at noon EST) was a compromise bill worked out by a Senate agriculture subcommittee under the guidance of Senator Anderson (D-N), former secretary of agriculture under Mr. Truman.

It would set up a flexible system of government-backed price supports, ranging from 75 to 90 percent of parity for most basic crops. The price props would come down as crop supplies went up.

(Parity is a price intended to give farmers a fair return on their crops in terms of what they have to buy).

In principle, the Anderson bill is much like the Aiken law enacted by the Republican-controlled 80th Congress last year to take effect next Jan. 1. But the Anderson measure underwrites farm prices at a somewhat higher level.

Senator Aiken (R-Vt), author of last year's act, is backing it. But some senators, both Democrat and Republican, want higher price supports for basic crops.

Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla), chairman of the Senate agriculture committee, said he plans to offer the program of Secretary of Agriculture Brannan as a substitute for the Anderson bill.

"I'm for the highest price supports I can get," he said. The plan of Brannan, who succeeded Anderson as Secretary of Agriculture, would support storable basic commodities through the present loan and purchase mechanisms.

Same Shovel Used To Break Ground

The same silver plated shovel used in breaking ground for the Fayette County Hospital, was to be used in ground-breaking for the Clinton County Memorial Hospital, Monday afternoon.

The shovel is owned by Trent Sikes, of Washington C. H. and the first soil was to be turned at Wilmington by T. S. Townsley, chairman of the hospital trustees.

Senator Robert A. Taft was scheduled for a short talk, and the Wilmington High School band has a part in the exercises.

George Sever, of the Sever-Williams Construction Co., also has a part in the exercises, as the Sever-Williams Co. has the main contract for the Clinton County institution.

Two Charges Filed Against Local Man

Two state liquor law enforcement officers arrested Howard Jett at his home in Washington C. H. about 2:30 A. M. Sunday, on two charges of alleged violation of the state liquor laws.

One of the charges was that he sold liquor without a permit, and the other was keeping a place where liquor was sold without a permit.

The charges were filed in the court of Police Justice, R. H. Sites, and Jett furnished bond for his appearance October 20.

Seventy five thousand men were directly employed in the construction of Rockefeller Center, New York.

"College Boys" Are Ordered from County

Magazine solicitors who claimed they were working magazine subscriptions to win a scholarship in college, were located by Sheriff Orland Hays, Monday and ordered out of the county under penalty of being arrested for trespassing if they continued their solicitation within the county.

His action was in response to complaints made by various persons who had been accosted by the young men.

Octopuses used jet propulsion in swimming long before men thought of the idea.
